2019

Jan | Feb 2019

Granville Library Goes Fine Free

The Bottom Line. Effective January 1st, library trustees have approved unanimously to have the Granville Public Library go fine free, joining many other libraries serving our community. Doing away with library fines removes barriers for library use and makes library services more accessible. Data has shown positive results of going fine free, including increased number of library users and increased materials circulation. The library's budget will be minimally impacted since fines account for less than half of one percent of the library's operating budget.

The Fine Print. If an item is not returned by its due date (after it has reached its maximum number of auto-renewals), the clock starts ticking on it being overdue. If, after 30 days, the item is not returned, a patron will receive a notification about the overdue item's status and that they are assessed a fee for the item's replacement. Once the item is returned, there is no fine charged and the fee is removed. If items are not returned, the fee remains on the card and the patron may not check out any additional items until the fee is paid or the item is returned. Patrons with fines on their accounts prior to 2019 can stop by the Circulation Desk to have them waived.

Dream On. Though no longer a "food for fines" event, the library will continue to participate in Feed the Dream and collect items for the Food Pantry Network of Licking County throughout January. Stop by to drop off food and we'll drop your fines!
